QUEENSTOWN

The Best in South Pacific Hunting

GLENROY HUNTING SAFARIS could not be situated in a more spectacular setting, nestled under the rugged might of the Remarkables Mountains, this is New Zealand's best hunting destination. The Glenroy property rises from the rocky bounds of the Kawarau River canyon – once the scene of the 18th century goldrush which gave New Zealand its most colourful and earthiest history. The property is New Zealand's largest private hunting reserve, rising 7000 feet into the splendour of the Remarkables Range.

In 2003

Glenroy Hunting Safaris was recipient of

Safari Club International's

People Choice Award as

The 3rd Best Hunting Destination in the World

Game Varieties

Glenroy Hunting Safaris offers hunters a wide range of trophy hunts - Red Stag, Fallow Deer, Wapiti, White Tail Deer, Chamois, Himalayan Tahr, Wild Goat and Arapawa Ram and American Bison almost covering the whole spectrum of New Zealand game. An added attraction is complimentary small game, such as hare, rabbit and opossums, while there is excellent fishing for Rainbow and Brown Trout in nearby rivers, Lake Hayes and Lake Wakatipu.

Hunting Season

Our hunting season is from March to July.

The recommended average hunt duration is five full days plus day of arrival and day of departure. Of course hunters can add a few days for sightseeing. We are situated in the middle of the scenic circle of New Zealand.

Jim Hunter

The Glenroy Hunting Safaris operation is headed by one of New Zealand's most experienced international big game hunters, Jim Hunter. A man with a vast hunting background, he is a founding member of the New Zealand chapter of Safari Club International, a member of the New Zealand Professional Hunting Guides Association and a member of International Professional Hunters Association.

Jim was the recipient of the Safari Club International Professional Hunter of the Year Award in 2002. Jim has hunted extensively throughout Africa, Europe, Australia, New Guinea, Canada, Vietnam and across Central Asia, New Caledonia, Russia, Mongolia, Alaska, Peru, Argentina, Bolivia, Colorado and Texas and was at one time Head-Man Hunter for the New Zealand Forest Service.

Jim and his team will put all their experience at your disposal to make your stay with Glenroy Hunting Safaris the hunting experience of a lifetime

Adventure Land

The Glenroy Hunting Safari hunting area fits comfortably in with the many tourist attractions which have gained Queenstown the reputation of being "The Adventure Capital of the World". Activities such as jetboating, white water rafting, parapenting, and bungy jumping from the historic Kawarau Bridge (only a few kilometres down the road from Glenroy) are complimented by almost as many tranquil pastimes. You can golf on one of several magnificent courses in the area, enjoy the many beautiful outdoor walks, shop in the downtown duty free malls and in the evenings, wine and dine at the many superb Queenstown restaurants, bars and casinos.
